QUAESTI

We would like to announce a call for papers for the 3rd Virtual Multidisciplinary Conference of the www.quaesti.com to be held online on December 7-11, 2015. The QUAESTI conference will connect scientists from various fields and create a multidisciplinary event. We especially invite Young Researchers – Junior Scientists for who this conference is intended.

Full papers

English is official conference language.

All papers will be single-blind, peer-reviewed in double tier approval process.

Full papers should be max 6 pages using conference template.

We welcome any research approach or type of paper including conceptual, empirical and critical literature reviews.

However, we expect high standards of scholarship within the papers in terms of establishing the theoretical context, explaining the methods of inquiry, and reporting results that may aid other researchers, especially young researchers.

Best papers will be published in academic journals .

Reviewing process

All full papers need to be submitted via our conference management system, available at www.quaesti.com (you need to be signed in).

To submit your paper, please follow these steps

Register at the www.quaesti.com.
