WWU Summer School: European Campus of Intercultural Perspectives –
Training in intercultural competence for international students-29 August-2 September 2016 –

Dear students,

Join us this summer at the University of Münster (WWU) and experience the European Campus of Intercultural Perspectives (ECIP)!

Intercultural competence has become an essential skill for all people involved - a consequence of increasing globalisation and migration- be it in working life abroad or in multicultural teams.

But what is intercultural competence? What is a culture shock? What options are there to deal with intercultural misunderstandings? How does conflict resolution work?

The Institute of Ethnology of the University of Münster and its longtime cooperation partner ESE invite you again this year to participate in this one-week intensive programme from 29 August 2016 to 2 September 2016 address these questions.

No ready-made answers will be offered, instead we will investigate fundamental issues in intercultural encounters and analyse common stumbling-blocks in interaction in this globalized world. Participants also have the opportunity to design their own project.

Please find attached the programme flyer; further information can also be found at: go.wwu.de/ecip

Application Deadline: May 29th 2016.

Costs: 150€ (80€ for IRUN member students)

Please feel free to forward this information to fellow students and friends.

Don't hesitate to contact us if you have any questions or need any extra information at summerschool.ecip@wwu.de.

We look forward to meeting you in Münster!

Sincerely,

Your ECIP Summer School Team
